Expertise

Robert O'Shea is a partner and head of the Corporate Department at Matheson. He is co-head of the firm's US Business and Inward Investment Groups. Robert practises corporate law focusing primarily on the area of inward investment, international corporate reorganisations, post-acquisition integration and consolidation projects, spinoff transactions, cross-border mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, general commercial contracts and corporate governance and compliance.

Robert has extensive experience in leading multi-jurisdictional transactions and has advised in relation to some of the largest inward investment and restructuring projects in Ireland. In particular he has extensive experience drafting and advising on the legal documentation associated with cross-border restructurings and inward investment projects and the complex legal issues that can arise in re-organisation projects.

Prior to joining Matheson in 2000, Robert previously worked with another of Ireland's largest corporate law firms where he practised in similar areas. Robert also spent time working in-house with the legal department of a large US pharmaceutical corporation, where he worked on international transactions.

Robert is a member of the Law Society of Ireland, the Law Society of England and Wales and an associate member of the American Bar Association (ABA). He is also a member of the European Committee of the ABA Section of International Law and also the M&A Multinational sub-committee. Robert has published and presented on a variety of corporate and international business law topics both in Ireland and overseas. He has also lectured extensively on various corporate and commercial law topics for the Law Society of Ireland, as well as at Irish universities and industry associations such as International Fiscal Association.

Experience Highlights

Recent transactions on which Robert and his team have advised include:

- standing corporate counsel to numerous international corporations in respect of their Irish operations
- advising Fortune 100 US corporations on group-wide international restructurings
- representation of international corporations on their establishment in Ireland
- substantial integration projects pre and post mergers and acquisitions for various international clients
- ongoing strategic advice and counselling for a range of international corporations including in relation to cash and dividend repatriation strategies
